Meet Prof Marcus Ambe, President of AISCR, Professor of Supply Chain Management, Jackson State University, USA

As we stand at the threshold of a new era for African commerce, I invite you to join us in championing a transformative vision for the continent's supply chain landscape. The upcoming Pan-African Supply Chain Management Conference represents a pivotal moment—a convergence of minds, strategies, and opportunities to redefine how goods flow across our nations. By investing in this initiative, you're not just supporting a conference; you're investing in Africa's future. Your contributions will facilitate crucial discussions, foster partnerships, and catalyze innovations that will unlock the full potential of our continent's trade networks.

ABOUT AISCR

The African Institute for Supply Chain Research (AISCR) is a premier non-profit, independent organization, with 501c3 status dedicated to advancing research, education, and knowledge dissemination in the field of supply chain management. We focus on issues relevant to Africa, the United States of America, and the rest of the World fostering economic growth and promoting sustainable developmental goals. Through our research, we bring world-class supply chain insights on emerging supply chain issues.

AISCR provides enriching education and experiential learning opportunities for supply chain students, investing in the future by training the next generation of supply chain specialists through the provision of grants and scholarships, and professional development of practitioners. We collaborate with universities as well as local communities providing research, educational, and capacity-building interventions. Furthermore, we facilitate engagements through conferences, summits, webinars, and lecture series creating opportunities for networking and enhancing the knowledge base of supply chain theories and practice.

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

We are delighted to announce the inaugural AISCR Pan African Supply Chain Management Flagship Conference, scheduled to take place from 23rd to 25th October 2024 at the University of Nairobi Towers, Kenya. This landmark event will convene distinguished keynote speakers, plenary sessions, academic and industry paper presentations, panel discussions, works-in-progress workshops, a student case competition, a Doctoral Colloquium, small business incubator sessions, a Manuscript Development Workshop, Awards ceremony, and Educators' Workshop.

The conference theme, "The Future of Supply Chain Management in Africa," underscores the critical need for Africa to navigate towards a more dynamic, efficient, and sustainable supply chain ecosystem. By tackling key challenges and embracing innovative solutions, this conference aims to propel Africa into a new era of supply chain excellence.

We invite you to join us in Nairobi, Kenya, to contribute to the discourse, share insights, and be an integral part of shaping the transformative journey that lies ahead for supply chains in Africa. This conference provides an exceptional platform for local and international academics, practitioners, students, and industry participants to exchange research findings, network, and explore the future of supply chains on the continent.

SPONSORSHIP AND EXHIBITION OPPORTUNITIES

We welcome sponsors and exhibitors to be part of this significant gathering of leading supply chain scholars and practitioners. Various sponsorship and exhibition opportunities are available, offering a unique chance to showcase your organization's commitment to advancing supply chain management in Africa. For sponsorship inquiries and details, please contact Dr. Forzia at sponsorship@aiscrglobal.org.

For scholarship opportunities, sponsorship packages, exhibitor details, and application forms, please refer to the respective sections starting from page 2 of this document.

AISCR, in partnership with UoN and KISM driving supply chain transformation in Africa

Keneth Matiba, CEO, KISM

Dr Chirchi Kipkoech, Director Capacity Development & Accreditation, KISM

TARGET AUDIENCE

The flagship conference is poised to draw a diverse array of participants, with an anticipated attendance of up to 500 delegates. Attendees will include:

- Supply Chain Professionals
- Industry Leaders and Executives (CEOs, COOs, CTOs, and other top executives who oversee supply chain operations within their organizations).
- Government Representatives and Policy Makers
- Academics and Researchers
- Entrepreneurs and Startups
- Students and Educators
- International Delegates and Organizations
- Technology Providers and Solution Vendors
- Non-Governmental Organizations (NGOs)
- Media and Press: Journalists, bloggers, and media professionals

Meet John Karani, Chairman, KISM

"Across the vast continent of Africa, the tapestry of progress in supply chain management is woven not by the solitary efforts of one nation or one institution, but by the collective efforts of all. In embracing the spirit of pan-African partnership, we recognize that just as one hand alone cannot tie a bundle, so too can one institution alone not navigate the complexities of modern supply chains and the attendant research work needed. It is through collaboration, solidarity, and shared knowledge that we unlock the true potential of our interconnected economies and institutions, forging a path towards sustainable supply chain management for prosperity and for posterity"

ABOUT THE HOST-UNIVERSITY OF NAIROBI

The host for the 1st AISCR Annual Conference is the Department of Management and Project Planning, at the University of Nairobi, Kenya. The University of Nairobi is a body corporate established by an Act of Parliament Cap 210 of the Laws of Kenya is the pioneer institution of university education in Kenya and the region. The university is proud of its distinguished record of achievements in teaching, research, development, and consultancy while strategizing for a greater future as the center of academic, research, and professional excellence.

The Conference will be held at the state-of-the-art Chandaria Centre for Performing Arts. Located on the 6th floor of the University of Nairobi Towers, a facility that can hold up to 500 delegates. With its prime location and top-notch facilities, the University of Nairobi Towers provides an ideal setting for the 1st AISCR Pan African Supply Chain Management Flagship Conference. We look forward to welcoming delegates to this prestigious venue for a memorable and productive event.
